Introduction

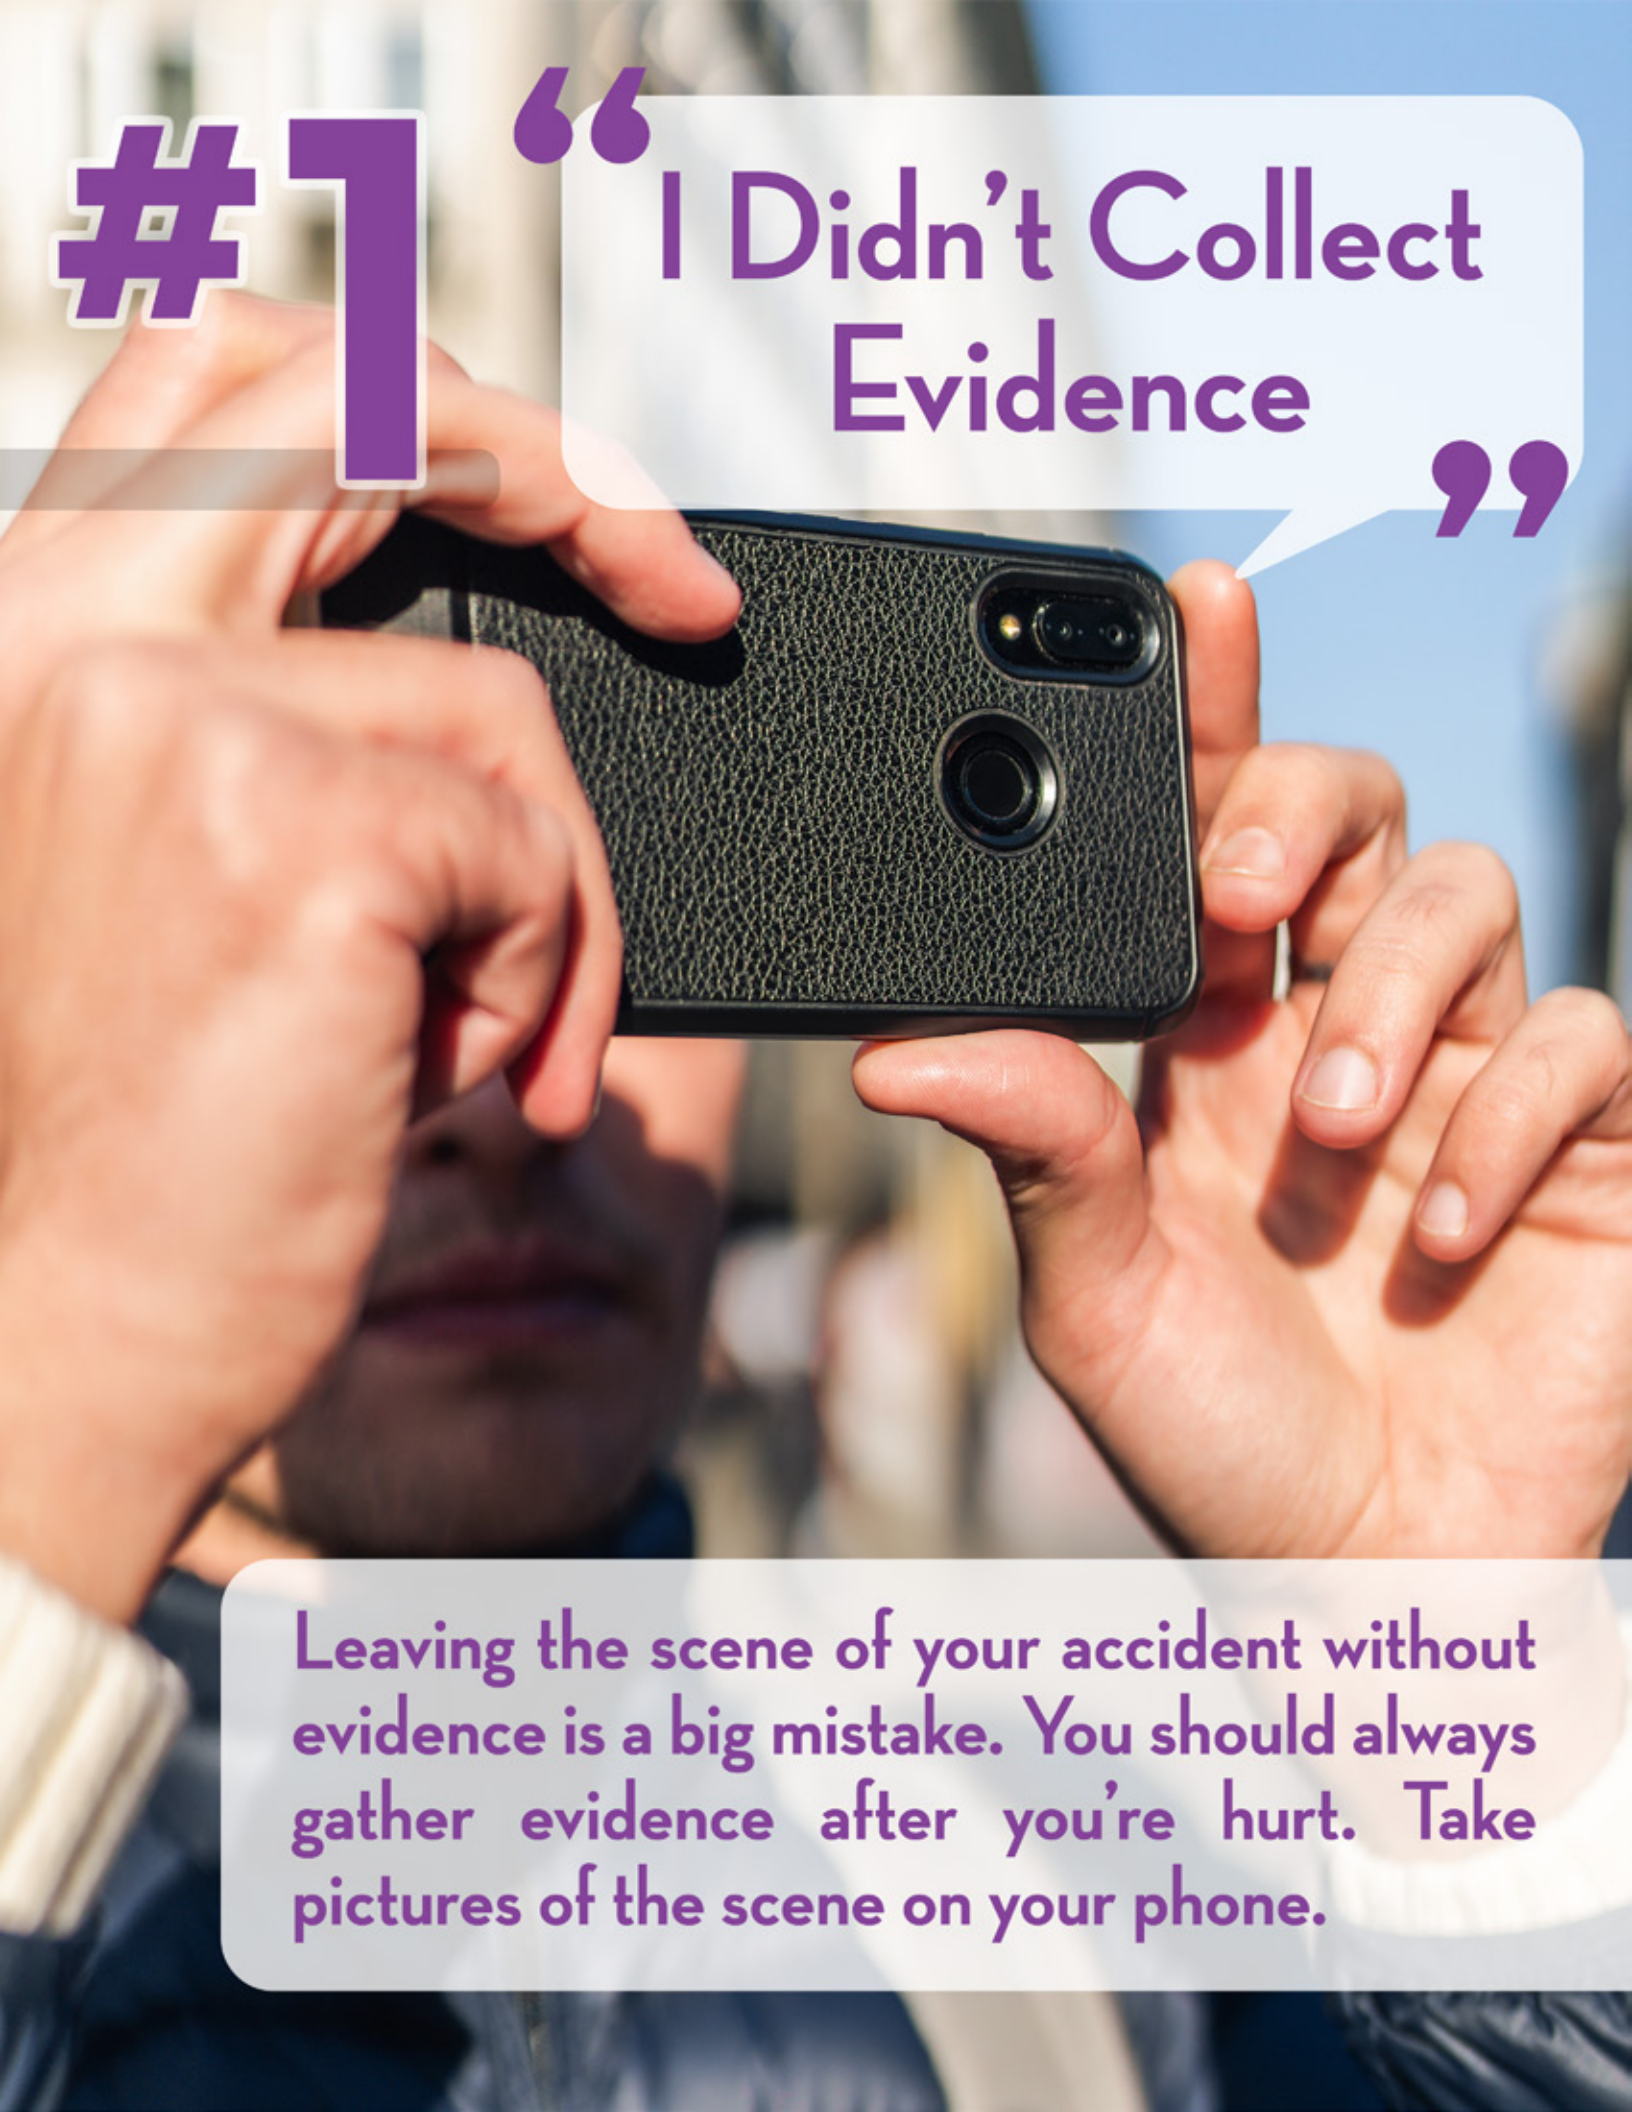
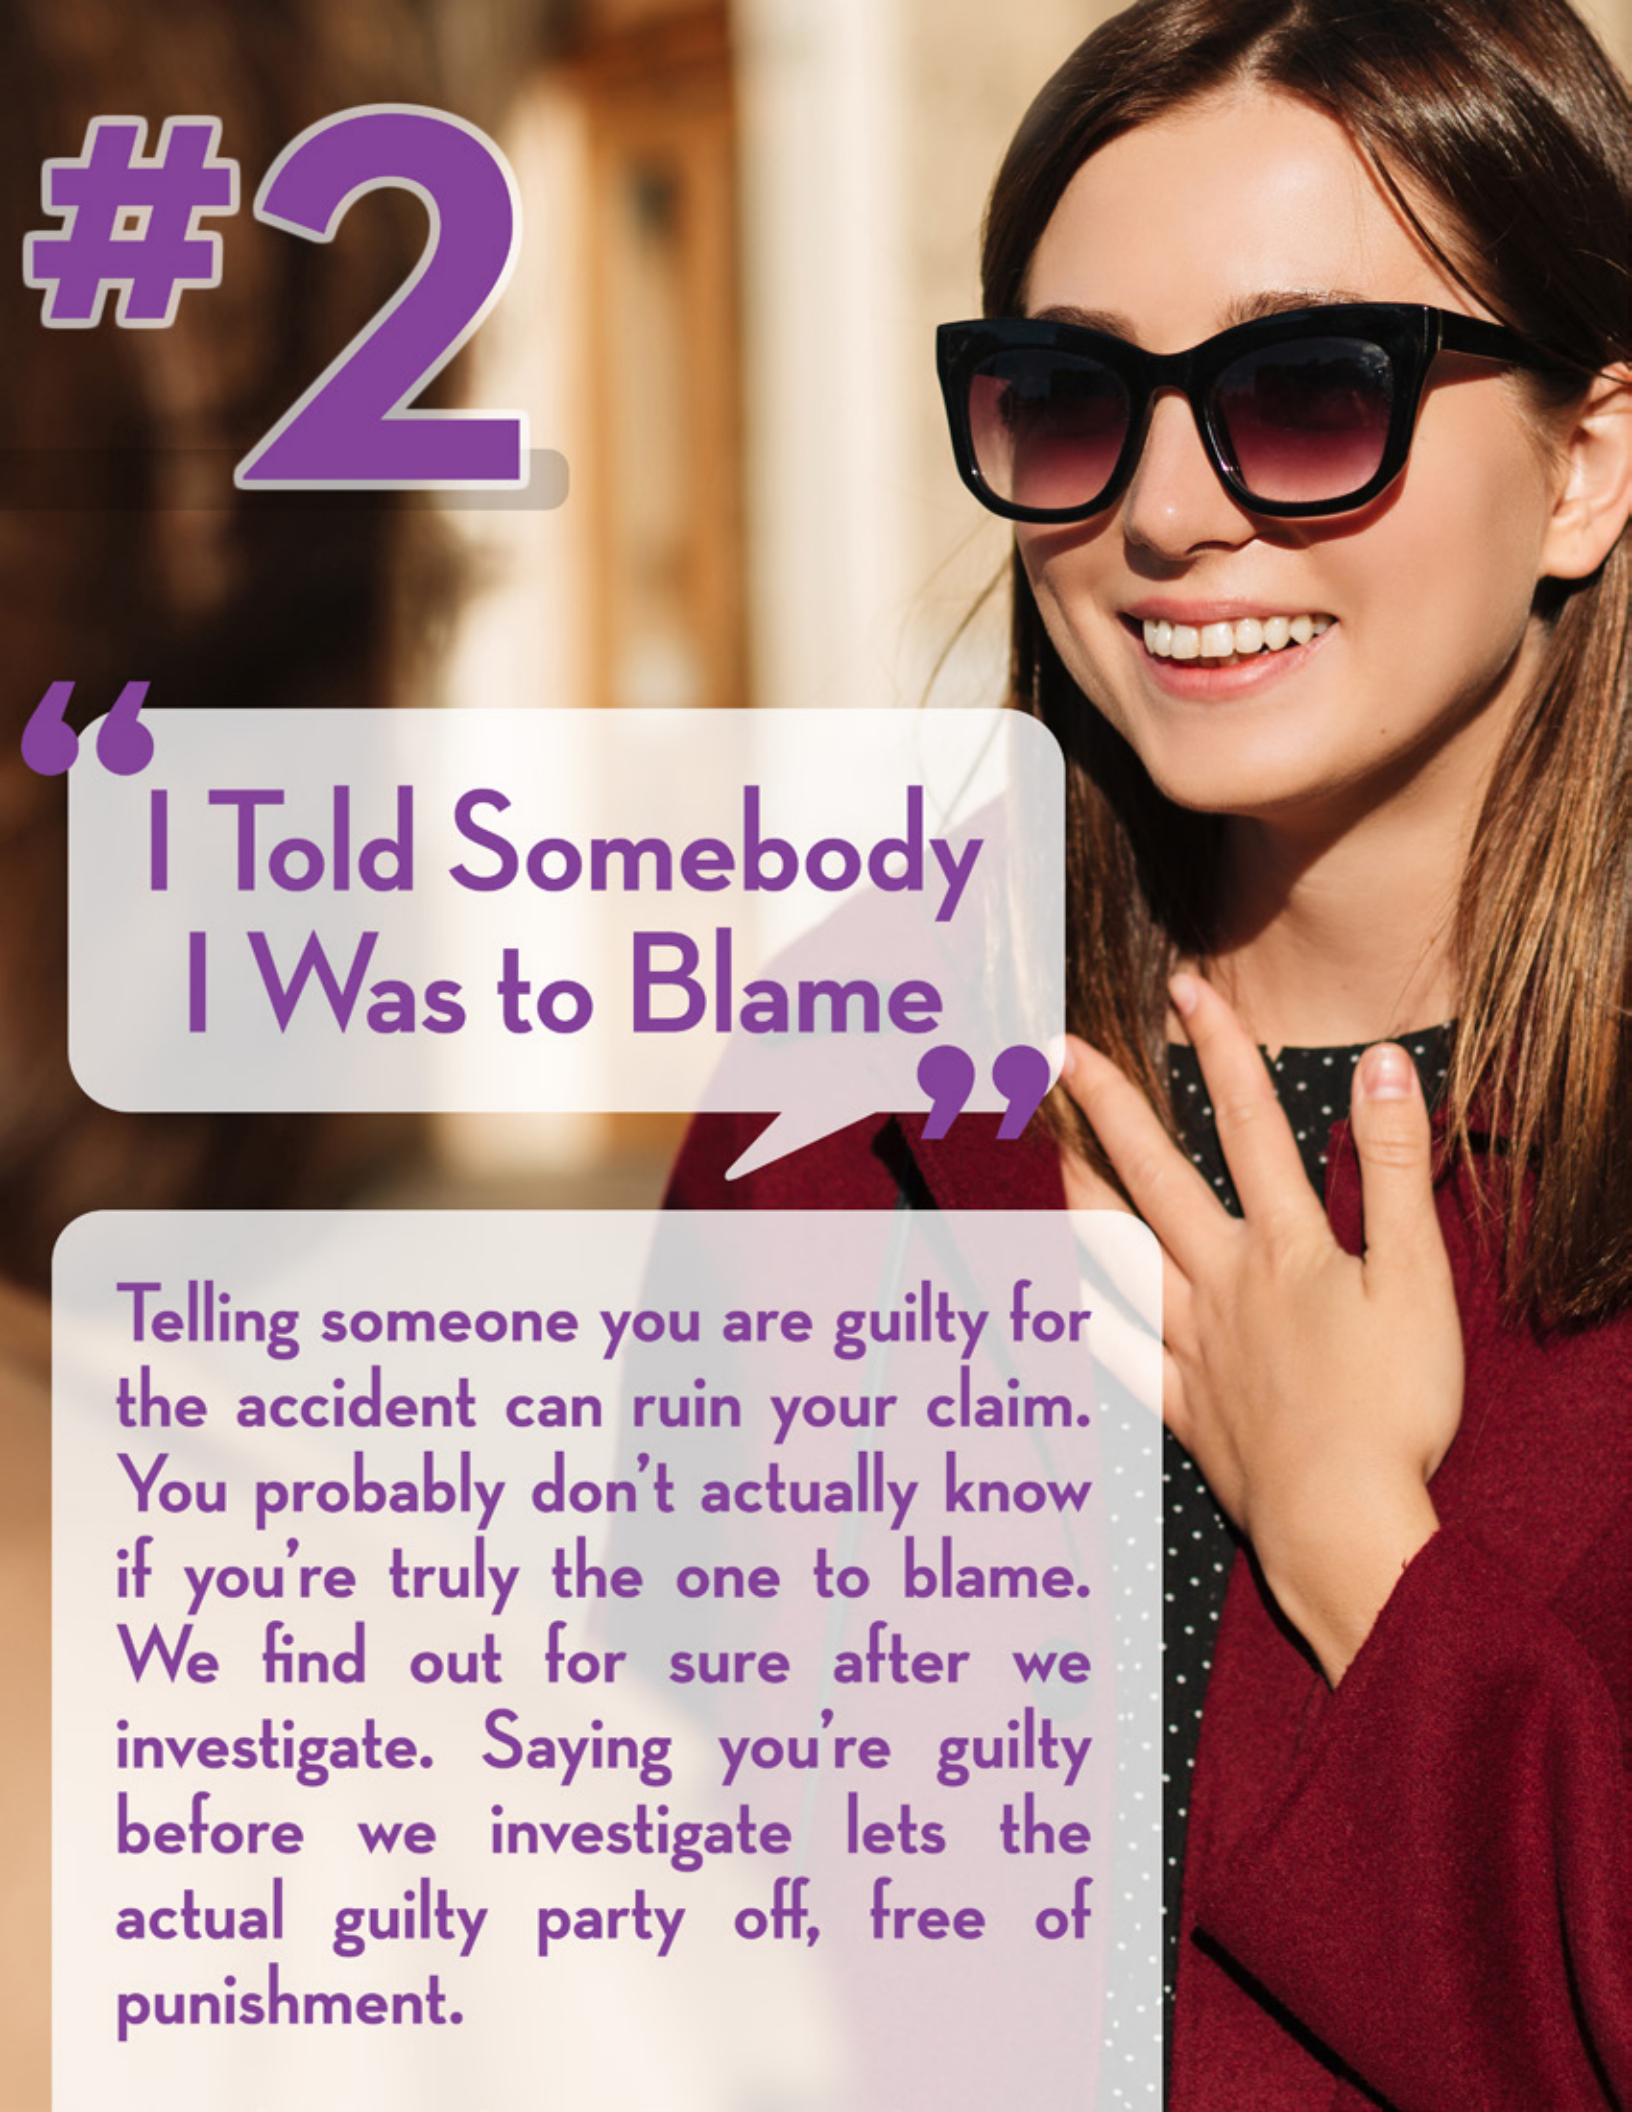
After a serious injury, your life can be miserable. We care about getting you justice for this. Here are seven things we hope we don't hear you say, if you want fair results.



#1 "I Didn't Collect Evidence"

Leaving the scene of your accident without evidence is a big mistake. You should always gather evidence after you're hurt. Take pictures of the scene on your phone.



#2

"I Told Somebody I Was to Blame"

Telling someone you are guilty for the accident can ruin your claim. You probably don't actually know if you're truly the one to blame. We find out for sure after we investigate. Saying you're guilty before we investigate lets the actual guilty party off, free of punishment.

#3 "I Talked to the Insurance Company"

Insurance companies don't want to help you get your fair result. They want to get a statement from you. They are trained to get you to say things that will help them save money. Do not speak to the insurance reps, if you want a fair result.

#4 "I Haven't Seen a Doctor"

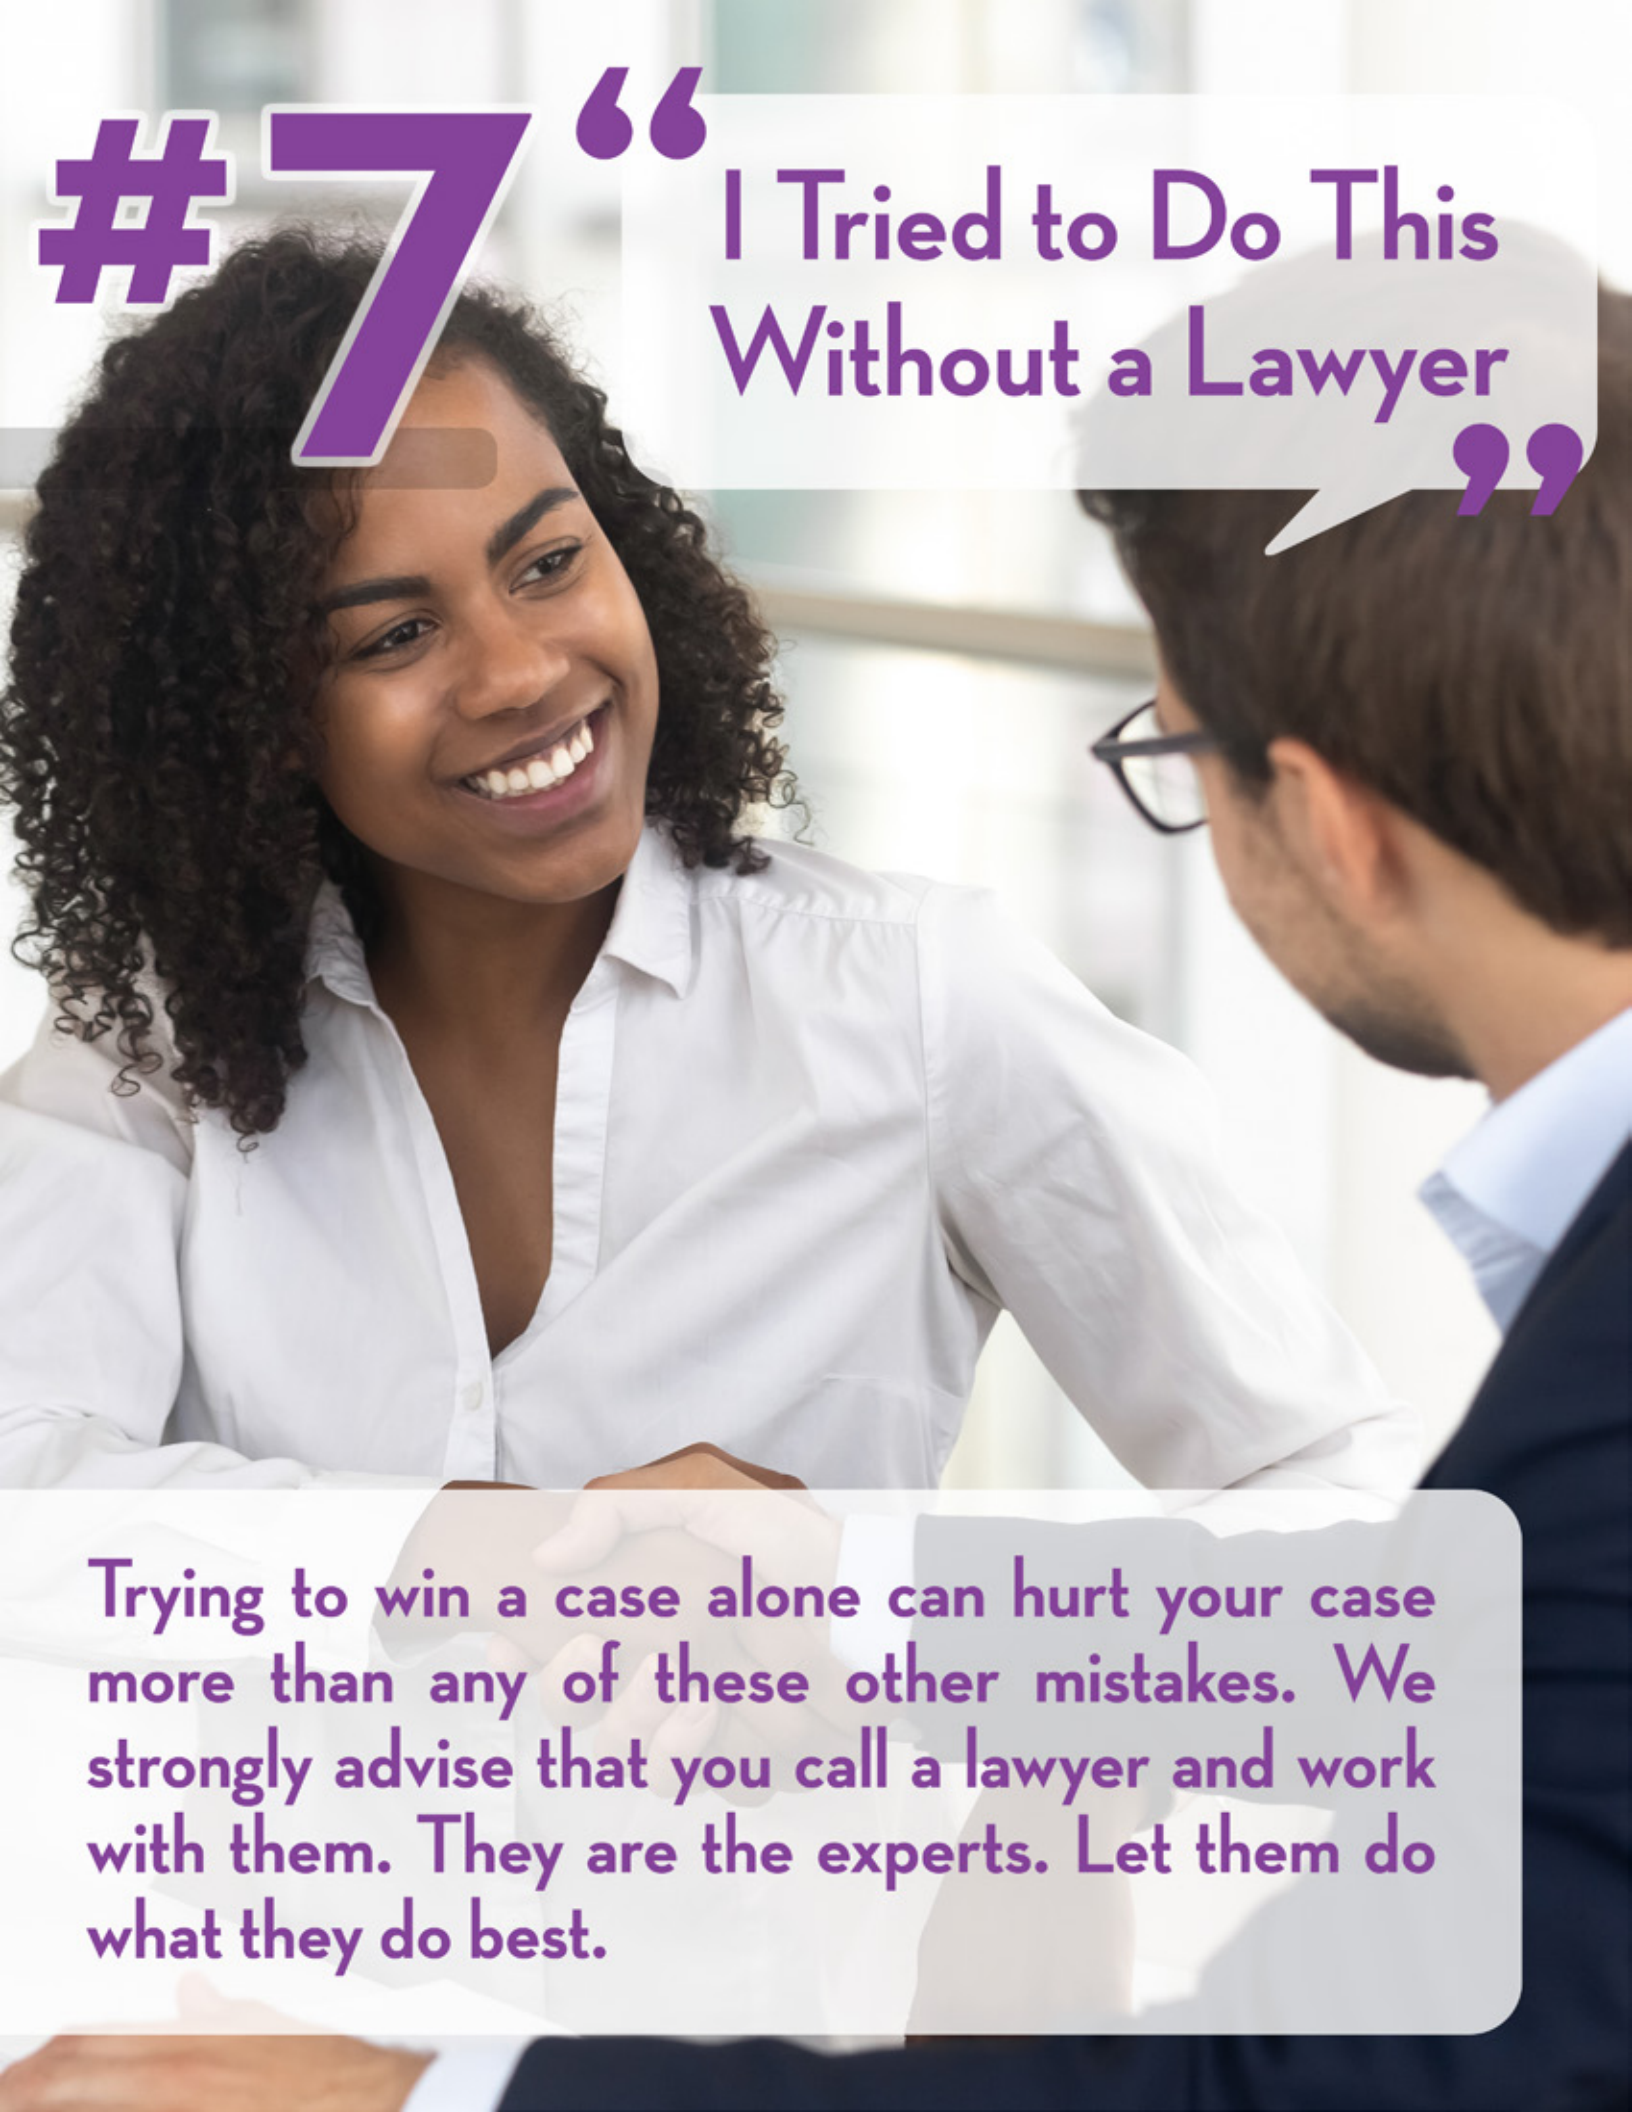
You absolutely need to go to a doctor to get your injuries looked at. If you are in pain, you need to get treatment. It won't help you in any way to avoid seeing the doctor.

#5

“I Didn’t Follow My Doctor’s Advice”

Ignoring what your doctor is telling you to do won’t help you in any way. We want you to feel better. You have to listen to your doctor.

#6
“I Waited a While to Call You”
We would ideally like you to reach out to us as soon as possible to get started. These cases are really tricky and they take time. You should not wait to reach out to a lawyer.



#7 "I Tried to Do This Without a Lawyer"

Trying to win a case alone can hurt your case more than any of these other mistakes. We strongly advise that you call a lawyer and work with them. They are the experts. Let them do what they do best.
